

The Rainbow Currency Has Arrived! New Idea Competes with Fed

Media Bypass

November 1st, 1998

When it comes to complaining about the government, most Americans have usually ended up shrugging their shoulders: "You can't fight City Hall."

So for years we have stood by and watched as the Internal Revenue Service has dipped into our paychecks and the Federal Reserve has entrenched itself in our economy. Maybe because we didn't really want to know, we've never even bothered to find out the truth.

In fact, it is incredible how few people know even this much about the Federal Reserve: It's not federal, and it has no reserves. The organization chaired by Alan Greenspan is a coalition of private, international banks that does not answer to the United States Government. And there is no precious metal warehoused in Fort Knox or elsewhere that backs the money that they issue. Even a casual look at the Fed's history leads one to wonder at how a private institution, made up of members who profit mightily from its policies, has wrested and maintained control over the money supply of the wealthiest nation on the planet. For those who have made a serious inquiry, the Federal Reserve is an institution shadowed in deceptive origins and fraudulent policies.

Conspiracy theorists, one and all? Maybe. But the well-versed among them will tell you the conspiracy is not theory – it's a well-established fact. Hundreds of authors and commentators have gathered an impressive body of facts and documentation to show how the Constitution of the United States was circumvented to allow the central bankers access to our money, and how the IRS uses scare tactics and even violence to browbeat American citizens. These students of the nation's monetary system aren't kooks – they're professors, political scientists, judges, senators and even presidents.

For the newly initiated, these revelations are followed by anger and frustration and the good old American shrug: "What can I do?" The National Organization to Repeal the Federal Reserve Act (NORFED) may just have an answer for them.

The first step in toppling the Federal Reserve is bringing together the millions of Americans who have long questioned its constitutional legality, much less its benevolence. As a group, their voice will be heard. Enter NORFED and the American Liberty Currency. By purchasing the Liberty silver certificate, buyers not only receive an instrument that is backed by silver, but also declare themselves as members of a movement to repeal the Federal Reserve Act.

NORFED pledges absolute anonymity for its members, citing the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution and many recent court decisions that protect organizations from being forced to reveal the names of their members. But NORFED promises to publicize the sales of the Liberty silver certificates so the world will finally know how many Americans demand honest answers from our government.

What exactly is a $10 Liberty ? Officially, it is a paper warehouse receipt for one Troy ounce of pure .999 fine silver, a fully legal instrument in accordance with the Uniform Commercial Code. Numismatically, it is an elegantly designed, counterfeit proof certificate, a piece of currency that can be used for $10 with anyone who will accept it. Politically, it's a statement of protest against the way our government has handed the control of our money supply to the Federal Reserve, and uses the unconstitutional Income Tax to bilk us of our wealth. The Liberty costs $10, and can be redeemed for the actual silver that backs it. Try that with a $10 Federal Reserve Note.

For NORFED's Senior Economist, Bernard von NotHaus, it is only a matter of time before the truth is revealed that the Federal Reserve is nothing more than a national scam that has ripped off the American people and enslaved them with perpetual debt. Von NotHaus also has no doubt that his very life might be on the line for this quest of a free-market currency.

"If I or my family die of anything other than old age," he has publicly state, "you can blame the forces behind the current U.S. government." By that, he means the Federal Reserve, the IRS, the Council on Foreign Relations, the BATF, the FBI and the CIA – all of whom have "conspired to enslave the American people with the tyranny of the income tax and a dishonest money system."

Von NotHaus and the members of NORFED are issuing American Liberty Currency through a grass-roots movement of one American to another, and through the national radio talk-show circuit. As Liberty Currency grows in popularity, so will NORFED, and so will its efforts to educate the public about the Federal Reserve. Their ultimate goal is the end of the Federal Reserve system and fractional reserve banking – and the restoration of the wealth of the American people to the American people.

NORFED Currency Guidelines

The Royal Hawaiian Mint has been in the coin business for 24 years and specializes in creating and issuing unique financial items for local, national and international clients.

In 1997, the Mint received a most unusual request from one of its clients to create a unique financial/political instrument. Based on mint master Bernard von NotHaus' 24 years of extensive research and review of economic models, currencies, financial systems including the Federal Reserve, plus an extensive network of business connections, the American Liberty Currency was to be designed to be:

1. Absolutely 100 percent legal
2. Circulated at par with Federal Reserve Notes
3. Backed with 100 percent intrinsic value
4. Responsive to the free market
5. 100 percent redeemable
6. Adjustable to market fluctuations
7. Ultra-secure
8. A political message

The American Liberty currency was created, and the client has become NORFED. The Mint has continued to be involved with the first day of issue ( Oct. 1, 1998).
